Soviet Fishing Violations Anger Alaskans

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — While a Coast Guard cutter and a Soviet trawler seized battled stormy seas en route to Kodiak today, a stormy situation was brewing among officials irritated at Soviet intrusions of Alaska fishing areas.

The seizure of the 178-foot trawler SRTM 6-437 by the cutter Storis 15 miles off the Shumagin Islands triggered demands by Alaskans for stern action against the Soviets.

The seizure was the second such incident off Alaska shores this month. On March 2 the So of that area. The skipper was charged in U.S. District Court in Anchorage with violating territorial waters by fishing within the 3-mile limit and was fined $5,000. The fine was paid without protest.

In Washington Thursday, Sens. E. L. Bartlett and Ernest Gruening, both D-Alaska, called upon the government to deal more strongly with the Soviets. "Teach the Russians a lesson they will not soon forget," Bartlett said.

"The Soviet government could easily forbid and thereby effectively prevent its fishermen from engaging in these violations," Gruening said. "The best way to prevent them" is to impose the maximum penalty.

The congressmen's comments were echoed by Alaska state legislators.

"Seize the vessel and sell its catch and ship the crew back home," State Rep. Charles Powell, R-Kodiak, said here.

The Kodiak Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution which said, "We bitterly oppose the gentle handling of the previous arrest of the Soviet vessel and we hope this incident is much more firmly penalized."

Gov. Walter J. Hickel said he had asked the government to press for the maximum penalty which would be a $10,000 fine and one year in jail for each crewman and forfeiture of the vessel and its cargo.

But Donald L. McKernan, special assistant to Secretary of State Dean Rusk for fisheries and wildlife, said "the government should take a long-range view in moving ahead on this violation, rather than exacting retribution" for violation of the recent Soviet-American fishing agreement.

Romney Signs All State Into Eastern Time

Mayors of Iron Mountain, Kingsford and Norway agreed today to delay observance of Eastern Standard Time in their communities until April 1.

Gov. Romney was to sign a bill at 11 a.m. today exempting Michigan from effects of the federal act which would require the state to observe Daylight Saving Time 6 months a year.

The result late this morning still was confused in the three Upper Peninsula counties bordering on Wisconsin which now keep Central Standard Time like Wisconsin and not Eastern Standard Time like the other 80 counties of Michigan. (Iron is a border county, too, but it keeps EST.)

Menominee City Council has repealed its time ordinance and enacted a new one setting a city position on time that will conform to whatever neighboring Wisconsin does. Menominee's sister city, Marinette, Wis., keeps Wisconsin time and Menominee has found it very troublesome to have two time standards in the joint community.

Menominee City Council claims authority for its dissent from the state time act under the State Home Rule Cities Act. Menominee City doesn't intend to change its time no matter what Michigan does, unless Wisconsin changes its time. It's in the Central Standard Time Zone and observing Daylight Saving Time in the summer months at the present time.

Northern Menominee County communities have been observing Eastern Standard Time.

Dickinson County has been observing Central Standard Time and Daylight Saving Time in the summer, Rep. Jack Gingras (D-Iron Mountain) reported from Lansing Thursday that the state would not start enforcement of the new State Time Act until April 1 in the three Wisconsin border counties now on CST. Today this reprieve appeared to be out the window, with Leon Cohan, deputy attorney general, reporting that the law would go into effect the minute the Governor signed the bill.

Center Today

The mayors of Iron Mountain and Kingsford and the chairman of the Dickinson County Board of Supervisors were meeting this morning to decide on action on time for the county.

In Ironwood, (Gogebic County) Mayor Alfred Wright said Thursday "It looks like we will change to Eastern Standard Time at 2 a.m. Saturday to comply with the new law." Gogebic County hadn't decided on action Thursday.

Further complicating the time issue is a movement in Lansing to initiate by petition a state compliance with the federal Daylight Saving Time Act.

Cutter Coming To Bay de Noc About April 1

The arrival of vessels into Escanaba is scheduled for about April 1, the U. S. Coast Guard said today.

The Coast Guard asked that the information be given to the public as a caution to ice fishermen who may have shanties or nets in Green Bay.

The report said: "Shipping information received March 24 indicates the arrival of vessels into Escanaba about April 1, and into the City of Green Bay about April 2."

The vessels will be escorted by Coast Guard icebreakers. Ice on Green Bay ranges up to 25 inches.

Carrier Planes Attack Hanoi's Power Complex

SAIGON (AP) — Warplanes from two U.S. aircraft carriers penetrated the missile envelope around North Vietnam's industrial heartland Friday to attack the Thai Nguyen thermal power plant 39 miles from Hanoi.

It was the second big strike against the power plant, which is close to the vital Thai Nguyen steel plant. The steel plant has been bombed four times. Both targets were barred to U.S. pilots until early this month but have since been subjected to heavy bombing despite continuous bad weather over North Vietnam.

Pilots from the 85,000-ton nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise and the 76,000-ton Kitty Hawk streaked through the Thai Nguyen anti-aircraft defenses under cover of the darkness before dawn. Flying A6 all-weather intruders, they rained down 1,000-pound bombs aimed by radar and computers.

While one group of raiders was going after the Thai Nguyen plant, more intruders from the two carriers winged 32 miles south of the Red capital to blast an army barracks area at Chi Ne, where North Vietnamese troops may be staging to infiltrate the South.

The Thai Nguyen steel plant and power station are a significant segment of North Vietnam's industry. The steel plant, though incomplete, had been producing oil tanks and bridge sections. The power plant produced perhaps 20 per cent of the electricity for the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

Both are well within the ring of sites for the Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles that comprise the "missile envelope" around the Hanoi-Haiphong area. U.S. pilots call this "Indian country."

Air Force spokesmen no longer say when U.S. planes run into missile attacks, but previous raids on the Thai Nguyen complex are known to have provoked a volley of the Red rockets. However, no losses were announced for Friday's strikes.

Although carrier Navy jets and Air Force planes from Thailand have now posted the Thai Nguyen area half a dozen times, no comprehensive report has been made on the effects of the raids. Spokesmen say heavy weather has prevented good visual or photo reconnaissance after the raids.

Heavy weather continued over the North Thursday, but pilots flew 80 missions. Most of their targets were road, rail and water supply points from the Hanoi area south to the 17th Parallel.

Income Tax Package In Michigan Still Iffy

Bar Owner Is Hunted In JFK Plot Investigation

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Authorities sought today a former French quarter bar owner as a material witness in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Criminal Court Judge Matthew S. Braniff issued a warrant for the arrest of Gordon Novel, 29, who was last reported in Columbus, Ohio, and was said to be seeking sanctuary in Chicago. Braniff set bail at $50,000.

The judge acted after Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison filed an affidavit in court saying he had good reason to believe that Novel was a "most important" witness who was necessary to the grand jury's investigation.

A subpoena had called for Novel to appear Wednesday before the grand jury. But Novel's attorney, Steve Plotkin, said his client was in Washington, D.C., then on personal business.

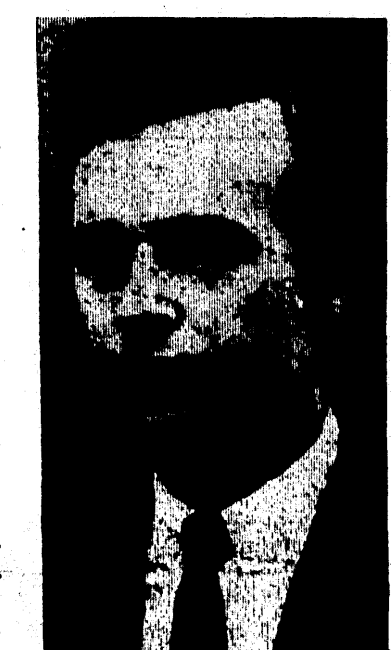

Novel popped up in Columbus

the same day and said he did not intend to return to New Orleans unless guaranteed freedom from "harassment."

The affidavit requesting the arrest order said Novel sold his Jamaican Village bar on the edge of the French quarter and left the city while under subpoena, stating publicly he had no intention of returning. The affidavit said Novel should be placed under sizeable bond or the grand jury "will be deprived of a most important and material witness."

The district attorney subpoenaed Layton Martens, who had been arrested here three days after the Kennedy assassination and held for "investigation of subversive activities," to appear before the grand jury next Wednesday.

At the time of the assassination, Martens, 24, roomed with David W. Ferrie at 3330 Louisiana Ave., where Garrison said a death plot was hatched. Ferrie died last month.

Strike In 10th Day

No Milk Shortages

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey State Police ordered special patrols into farm areas of the state today to head off further violence in the increasingly bitter milk war resulting from the holding action by the National Farmers Organization.

As the holding action entered its 10th day, there were several other developments:

— Ray Johnson, director of the Wisconsin NFO, said the holding action is forcing Wisconsin milk processors into price talks. Processors were not immediately available for comment, but the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture said it had no knowledge of bargaining sessions.

— Oren Lee Staley, president of the NFO, said from his Corn, Iowa, headquarters that the action, initiated in a 25-state area, has spread to two new states.

Ask Mediation

— Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles repeated a suggestion that Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman mediate the dispute.

— There were no visible signs that the holding action had cut deeply into the supply of milk, despite claims by the NFO that it knows of at least 10 million pounds that were dumped in public. The holding action is aimed at driving prices up 2 cents a quart by tightening the milk supply. Despite claims of victory by the NFO, milk prices appeared to be holding steady in the affected area.

— The Johnson administration was reported ready to act against increasing dairy imports but was said to be reluctant to move while the NFO continues its milk withholding and dumping action. Farm leaders close to the administration said Freeman fears action against imports now might make it appear he was acting under pressure from the NFO.

Dump Milk

Bottled milk was poured into gutters with raw milk as the National Farmers Organization withholding action entered its 10th day today in Michigan.

NFO members staged a mass dumping of stored raw milk Thursday in Monroe County, then bought 33 gallons of bottled milk and dumped that.

Monroe stores, however, said they still had enough bottled milk to meet normal demands. NFO Dairy Chairman Paul Love of Clinton County asserted that 100 dairymen dumped 100,000 pounds of milk. However, a spokesman at the scene said only a dozen persons participated and released no more than 10,000 pounds.

Meanwhile, the NFO and the Michigan Milk Producers Association continued their contradicting claims on the effect of the withholding action.

Result Disputed

The association, whose members include 8,500 of the state's 10,200 dairy farmers, said the raw milk supply has been reduced by only about 10 per cent.

NFO leaders said the supply has been cut by up to 60 per cent.

At Imlay City Thursday, the president of the Independent Dairymen's Cooperative for Eastern Michigan condemned the dispute.

The official, Bernard Lenk, said in a statement that the time was long past due for cooperatives and associations to "quit worrying about their prestige and work together for a fair price for dairy farmers."

Lenk said his cooperative has 600 members — "actual farms and not graveyard statistics" — and about half of them belong to the NFO. The NFO has refused to disclose its membership figures.

Demos Hostile: House, Senate Versions Differ

LANSING (AP) — Republican-dominated committees laid Gov. George Romney's fiscal reform proposals before the House and Senate Thursday, drawing criticism from Democrats in both chambers.

In the Senate, the bills emerged from the Taxation Committee in virtually the same form Romney proposed. But in the House, significant changes were made.

The House Republican Caucus voted to increase the 2½ per cent personal income tax asked by Romney to three per cent and to delete a proposed $10-per-person annual sales tax refund designed to allow tax-free purchase of food and drugs.

Property Tax Cut?

The package on the House calendar also contains a 20 per cent cut in annual property taxes. The Senate bill contains the 10 per cent reduction recommended by Romney.

Senate Democrats continued to term the Romney package unfair to individual taxpayers. House Democrats said the Republican-ordered changes made it even worse.

"We are against the Romney package," said Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit. "It is not tax reform. It is both inequitable and inadequate — inequitable in that all the money comes from the consumer, and inadequate in the sense that it doesn't meet the needs of the state."

Demo Opposition

"At first glance," said Rep. J. Bob Traxler, a House Democratic leader, "it would appear that by eliminating the $10 sales tax credit they (House Republicans) have put the Democratic Caucus in the position where we would have to oppose the entire program."

The House bill also changes the proposed corporate income tax from five to 6 per cent.

Unchanged from Romney's original package is repeal of the business activities tax, a cigarette tax boost of three cents a pack, an increase in the intangibles tax exemption from $10 to $100 per person, and continuation of city income taxes on both residents and nonresidents.

Commuter Tax

Senate Republicans have asked their Taxation Committee to consider abolishing the one-half per cent tax cities now can levy on the incomes of nonresidents. House GOP leaders oppose ending the nonresident tax.

A bill which would forbid the so-called "commuter tax" is still in the Senate committee and could be reported out as a result of a one-week extension in the deadline for reporting tax bills which was approved by both houses Thursday.

The Senate committee vote on reporting the bills was strictly on party lines, with Democrats opposed. In the House committee, Democrat support varied slightly from bill to bill.

House Speaker Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, estimated the rewritten House package would net the state $335 million in new revenue in fiscal 1967-68, compared with the $235 million anticipated by the original Romney program.

Bills Not Finished

Republican leaders in both the House and Senate stressed that the bills reported from committee Thursday are not finished products, but will undergo more study and probably a number of amendments on the floor.

Republican leaders in both houses, meanwhile, indicated they hoped to begin debate on the complicated pile of taxation proposals next week.

Early Easter Won't Damp Observances

NEW YORK (AP) — The earliest Easter in 16 years Sunday and wintry weather in many parts of the country apparently haven't dampened plans for traditional sunrise religious services and displays of finery in the Easter parade.

While preparations were being made for the services and parades, Pope Paul VI led Roman Catholics in the annual Good Friday observance today of Christ's Crucifixion.

Observed Here

Escanaba and other communities halted business from noon to 3 o'clock today and churches scheduled special services in observance of Good Friday. Closed were stores and public offices such as the City Hall, Court House, Post Office and others.

Thursday night in Rome, the Pope washed the feet of 12 boys, emulating in a Holy Thursday Mass at the Basilica of St. John Lateran the action of Christ at the Last Supper.

Economic Districts In Peninsula Urged

The UPCA delegate body, at their spring quarterly meeting Tuesday in Manistique, deferred making recommendations for the establishment of Economic Development Districts in the Upper Peninsula until further study.

Father Louis Cappo, Hubbell, chairman of the UPCA Economic Planning and Development Committee, formerly the EDA Advisory Committee, explained that the establishment of the Economic Development Districts, called for by the State and the Economic Development Administration (EDA) would provide an instrument to promote local economic planning.

Cappo explained that before these districts would be approved by the EDA, they must have the state's approval.

"Our quest now," said Cappo, "is how we are going to recommend that the Upper Peninsula be divided." His committee recommended several guidelines to the delegates and suggested alternative plans for Upper Peninsula districts.

Coordinating Units

Donald Bailey of the Michigan Office of Economic Expansion told the 80 delegates and guests that the purpose of establishing multi-county districts is to attempt to solve problems on a regional basis and to serve as a coordinator for local, state, and federal government programs.

At the present time his office has made 14 tentative districts in Michigan with four in the Upper Peninsula: The copper counties, Keweenaw, Houghton, Baraga and Ontonagon; the three eastern counties, Chippewa, Mackinac and Luce; the iron counties, Marquette, Dickinson, Iron, and Alger; and the three central counties, Schoolcraft, Delta and Menominee.

"If we don't establish these districts," Bailey said, "the result may be inaction or the federal government may make the decision alone."

Bailey stated that his office is now "feeling the pulse" of such representative groups as UPCA to find out how the local citizens want these districts formed. Once the local recommendations are made, Bailey said, his department will form the proposal for districts which will be reviewed by state agencies and others before going to the governor's office for the final decision.

District Plan

The UPCA delegates and officers broke up into small groups and discussed the matter but did not come to a decision as to how the districts should be formed. They voted to poll their local counties and reconvene in about a month at Chairman Harold Dettman's request to make the decision.

The Economic Development Act of 1965 called for creation of Economic Development Districts to strengthen local planning on a larger than county basis. EDA's plan would encourage the lumping of several counties in a district in which the counties with unemployment problems would be linked with economically progressive counties for the benefit of the laggards. EDA would then make the progressive counties eligible for the EDA benefits available previously only to counties with unemployment problems in order to create a benefit to stimulate the district economy.

The Manistique presentation of four districting plans by the Economic Planning Committee was introductory and an April meeting of the delegate body will be held to act on the plans two of which propose four districts for the U.P. and two propose 3 districts.

Dairy Import Curbs Proposed

WASHINGTON—Congressman Phil Ruppe (R-Mich.) criticized the Johnson Administration Thursday for "secrecy and inconsistency" in dealing with the American dairy farmer.

In a speech on the floor of the House of Representatives, Ruppe said, "Massive dairy imports from abroad are forcing prices downward, and the American dairy farmer is caught in the squeeze, with no benefit to the consuming public. Only the importer benefits. The Administration permitted a 300 per cent increase in foreign dairy imports during 1966 over the preceding year. Milk equivalent increased from 900 million pounds to 2.7 billion pounds.

"Now I hear the Department of Agriculture may permit an even greater percentage to be imported during 1967," Ruppe continued. "It is little wonder American dairy farmers are being forced out of business."

Last week, in a letter to President Johnson, Ruppe asked that a secret Tariff Commission report on the effect of imports on our domestic industries be released to Congress and the public. In his address Thursday, Ruppe said, "That document has been on the President's desk for 10 months. Still he fails to act on it, and he fails to make it public. I am against secret documents and I am against our dairy farmers being driven out of business by the increasing tide of foreign imports. The Administration is exploiting legal loopholes so more than 12 times as much milk equivalent is being imported as the present quotas allow."

Dental Students Career Days Set

LANSING—The state's two dental schools at the University of Michigan and the Michigan State Dental Association will jointly sponsor career day programs in April as part of a continuing effort to interest high school students in pursuing dental careers.

The career day programs will be held at the U. of M. dental school Saturday, April 1 and at U. of M.'s dental school Saturday, April 8. Information will be given students by staff members of the dental schools. Students interested in participating in one of the programs should contact their family or local dentists for details.

Ruppe called for passage of a bill he introduced last Monday to regulate imports of milk and dairy products, and "to close loopholes in the law."

The Ruppe bill would hold imports to the average brought into this country during the years 1961 through 1965.

Did You Lose A Hittite? Try Daily Press Want Ad

The Escanaba Daily Press joins in a world-wide recognition of International Want Ad Week, which is being observed by newspapers throughout the world.

The origin of the idea of "Want Ads" or classified advertisements, is many times older than the history of newspapers. But, it was with the advent of newspapers that Want Ads really came into their own. And, from that day to this, Want Ad columns have made up an integral part of the contents of newspapers.

The first Want Ad was "written" in ancient Thebes some 3,000 years ago. A slave from Syria, owned by a weaver in Egypt, had escaped. His master wanted him back, and finally, sought the assistance of a nearby scrivener.

The scrivener, taking a fresh papyrus, slowly inked on it in hieroglyphics the following message:

"The man-slave, Shem, having run away from his good master, Hapu the Weaver, all good citizens of Thebes are enjoined to help return him. He is a Hittite, five feet two inches tall, of ruddy complexion and brown eyes. For news of his whereabouts half a gold coin is offered. And for his return to the shop of Hapu the Weaver, where the best cloth is woven to your desires, a whole coin is offered."

That piece of papyrus, discovered by archeologists in the ruins of the once great city, is the earliest known printed advertisement.

You won't find any Hittites in the Daily Press Lost and Found classified section tonight but we do have a party looking for lake front property and another looking for a 2-wheel trailer.

No matter what you need or when you need it, you're bound to find it in the classified.

Freeway To Soo Little Help To Most Of U.P.

The Ohio-to-Soo Freeway "is triggering significant economic expansion" in Northern Michigan, the State Highway Commission reported today.

Commission Vice Chairman Charles H. Hewitt of Detroit said summer traffic volumes in the Northern half of the Lower Peninsula increased more than 30 per cent between 1959 and 1965.

"Unquestionably, I-75 is triggering significant economic expansion in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula," Hewitt said.

"However, it appears the Upper Peninsula is not benefiting fully in the summer travel boom that has occurred south of the Mackinac Bridge."

Hewitt said the long distances, the toll rates on the Mackinac Bridge and lack of an East-West Freeway in the Upper Peninsula are the principal reasons that similar travel-related economic expansion has not occurred in the Upper Peninsula.

The 45 counties in Northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula were divided into 12 areas of similar size for a comparison of sales tax collections on food during June, July and August.

- Counties in each of the 12 areas and the per cent of increase in sales tax collections on food during the summer months between 1961 and 1966 include (Statewide average increase was 25 per cent):
- Up 27 per cent in Arenac, Gladwin, Iosco and Ogemaw counties.
- Up 43 per cent in Clare, Crawford, Kalkaska, Missaukee and Roscommon counties.

Initial Progress Made On Survey Of School Needs

RAPID RIVER — Progress toward initiating an area study of school needs in the north Delta County area was made recently at a meeting between Rapid River and Gladstone school officials.

A four-man committee was named to meet with Supt. R. L. Godner of the Delta-School-District Intermediate School District to begin planning the study. Members of the committee are Supt. Wallace Cameron and Clair Hoehn of Gladstone and Supt. Walter Peters and Waldon Johnson of Rapid River.

An area study would be a detailed analysis of factors relating to school needs of the entire area, including population, tax valuation, travel distance, etc., with a view to the possible consolidation or reorganization of existing districts to better provide for the education of its children.

Any adequate study would probably make use of education consultants from one of Michigan's major universities.

Besides Gladstone and Rapid River, the Escanaba Township, Brampton, Trenary and Eben school districts have indicated interest in participating in the study. There has been no response as yet from Baldwin (Perkins) and Maple Ridge (Rock) districts, although both districts ideally should be considered in any survey of area school needs.

It is anticipated that representatives from any interested districts would be invited and welcome to participate in an area study committee.

Peters indicated that it might take from a year to 18 months to complete an exhaustive study of the area. Once completed, recommendations of the committee would go to individual school boards for discussion.

If a consensus opinion to action was reached by school boards of districts involved, a proposal could be presented to citizens of the area for a vote.

Senate Approves Uniform Opening For Deer Season

LANSING (AP) — The State Senate has given approval bills which would allow the use of studded tires in Michigan and set a uniform deer season opening date in both peninsulas.

The Senate approved 31-4 a measure sponsored by Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R - Ann Arbor, which would allow the use of snow tires studded with bits of metal or plastic to increase traction.

The bill to set the opening of deer season in both peninsulas on the Saturday nearest Nov. 15 was sponsored by Sen. Milton Zaagman, R-Grand Rapids. The measure passed 33-2.

Deer season currently opens one week earlier in the Upper Peninsula than in the Lower Peninsula.

Also passed and sent to the house was a measure sponsored by Sen. Robert Huber, R-Birmingham, to restrict spending by political parties on behalf of individual candidates in primary elections.

The bill, which passed 32-3, is designed to prevent parties from showing favoritism for certain primary candidates rather than remaining neutral.

Four Vying For Kowalski Post

LANSING (AP) — Four candidates have formally announced their candidacy for the post of House Democratic leader, and at least two others have expressed an interest in the job.

Democratic representatives will fill the slot in a secret-ballot vote next Wednesday.

The top House Democratic position became vacant Saturday when Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, died after suffering a massive stroke.

Among those in the running to succeed Kowalski are Rep. William Ryan, D-Detroit, the party's caucus chairman, and Rep. Albert Horrigan, D-Flint, last year's speaker pro tem and, now in his eighth term, one of the two longest-serving Democrats in the chamber.

Also announced as candidates are Reps. Arthur Law of Pontiac, who is now serving his fifth house term, and Daniel Cooper of Oak Park, a legislative sophomore.

All four announced their candidacies Wednesday.

Announcing he would not seek the job was Rep. George Montgomery, D-Detroit, a six-term member whom some observers had thought might command some support.

Montgomery said he intended "to support a candidate with the highest seniority."

Ryan, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for speaker of the House this year, when the current Legislature was organized, is regarded by many as the likely winner in the scramble for House party leadership.

A soft-spoken Marine Corps veteran and former United Auto Workers local president, Ryan has been a House member since 1958.

Jesuits' Training Shows New Trends For Roman Church

WOODSTOCK, Md. (AP) — The modernization movement in Roman Catholicism is reflected in the radical changes in training of priests at Woodstock College, one of the nation's foremost Jesuit seminaries.

Once the seminarians were virtually isolated in the rolling hill country 20 miles west of Baltimore. Their training was dominated by a theological system devised in the Middle Ages by St. Thomas Aquinas. And they conformed to a rigid schedule, from arising at a certain time to going to bed at a certain time. But no more.

Woodstock's president, the Very Rev. Felix F. Cardagna, said the changes here are simply a reflection of the modern age, something he said can be seen in other denominations as well as in Roman Catholicism.

Courses Added

Father Cardagna said that it was recognized that former methods did not equip priests to deal adequately with the problems of people who needed guidance. To help inform priests of social problems, Woodstock added a course called "Sociology of the Church."

Another new course is "Religious Anthropology," which explores the relation of religion to the cultural activities of man. Yet another new course is "The Problem of God," which includes inquiry into various modern theories, among them the "God is dead" viewpoint.

Teacher of this course, which surely would have been taboo in past times, is the Rev. John C. Murray, chief writer of the decree on religious liberty approved by the Ecumenical Council, Vatican II.

Protestant theology and the Protestant role in ecumenism also are studied.

Ecumenical or Nothing

"These days," said Father Cardagna, "the whole of theology has to be ecumenical or it's nothing. And it has to be in contact with the social problems and daily needs of people."

Of the 72 courses offered, 21 are elective. Seminarians have been going outside the school for some time to engage in social welfare work, but recently this activity has been greatly expanded.

Some students visit Baltimore each week to work in slum neighborhoods. Other seminarians pay regular visits to two nearby state mental hospitals. Others visit Protestant churches and synagogues to explain Catholicism.

Board Blames Faculty

Superintendent Quits Menominee Schools

MENOMINEE (AP) — Menominee's superintendent of schools, Dr. Robert R. Freeman, has resigned and the Board of Education said he had faced impossible demands from the schools' faculty.

The board also said in a statement that the Legislature had "created an exceedingly difficult climate in which to try to operate a school system."

Board members have been critical of the relatively new law giving bargaining rights to teachers.

The Menominee branch of the Michigan Education Association has made pay demands on the school board. Negotiations are in the future.

Dr. Freeman, superintendent for two years, said he is leaving to become superintendent of the Mishawaka, Ind., public schools. In a statement he praised the Menominee clerical, custodial and administrative staff, conspicuously omitting the faculty.

The school board said Dr. Freeman had been subjected to "harassment and impossible demands" from the faculty and that he had "lost all confidence" in the teachers group.

The beginning of the two-projector family

It's a pain in the neck for a guy to set up his big projector to look at a handful of slides.

Phew, the thought of lugging it around is enough to make any guy hold his slides up to the light.

Ahhh, but GAF has something new that's almost as easy. The Anscomite® 100 projector (that's small enough to fit in a gadget bag.)

Plug it in. Click it on. Focus... already he's showing his slides.

Sure, he has to go through the same motions, but there's a lot less rigmarole with the Anscomite 100.

After all, it's a portable 1-pounder. The slides go through nice and easy on a six-slide holder, or one at a time. And instead of that little peak-a-boo he gets with a viewer, the Anscomite 100 projects big sharp pictures up to 4 feet in width.

It's the kind of thing he'd want to use when he gets his slides back from the finisher. Or when he takes them in to show the guys at work.

You know, "instant" shows. Right now we have the Anscomite 100 sitting out for you to tinker around with and see how it works. For $14.95 (that's right, $14.95) your budget won't have any trouble affording it and for the convenience it gives, you'll wish you had it years ago.

Sure, it's nothing like the big elaborate thing you have up in the closet, but it's a lot easier to get around with.

Good Friday

How can it be "Good" Friday when it marks the crucifixion of Jesus, upon whose life and teachings Christianity has been founded?

Because it realized the earthly mission of Christ, of course.

All around the world today there is quiet and a cessation of many activities as the day is observed, commemorating the three hours which Jesus spent upon the cross.

The observance transcends Christianity and Christendom because of the weight of the Christian message in the world scale of faith and morality.

Jesus accepted the teachings of the prophets of the Old Testament in large part. They called for fair dealings between men. He emphasized the brotherhood of man and God's love for everyone.

Jesus and the other Jews of Palestine were under Roman rule at the time and the Romans used sycophantic Jews to execute Jesus as a threat to their control of this conquered people. The Christian world has moved to a position of agreement with the world of Judaism that the Jewish people do not bear guilt for the crucifixion of Jesus. A small clique of Jews, the Sadducees, who held office under the Romans, supported them and called for the death of Jesus as they shouted support of their conquerors. They were hated by the bulk of the Jews, who were never on the Roman side and who hated Caesar.

Christianity spread rapidly after the death of Jesus. His teachings were not for the Jews and Romans, but for mankind.

He taught a very difficult faith. It's core: Love one another.

His church, which was pretty much one community for 1,000 years, has been moving toward more conversation between its fragmented parts in recent years and there are hopes that there will be more Christian unity.

But a Catholic clergyman expressed the difficulty of true Christian progress when he declared that people who find no difficulty accepting the Trinity cannot accept their neighbors. Their Christian faith commands them to love them.

Easter, with its message of the Resurrection, brings new hope each year that there will be more brotherhood of men. The Christian message and those of the other great faiths are specially needed in times like these when materialism bears so heavily upon people and when "getting ahead" is so apt to mean not peace of mind and a "good life" in the sense of fine human values cherished and adhered to, but a great stacking up of possessions.

We simply need possessions for modern living and we are going to have them, willy-nilly, but to let them become an end-and-all of our desires perverts their usage from tools for good living into our goals. And they are simply not the money of Heaven.

Millions and millions of Christians on this Good Friday will get the good feeling of worship as they relive the story of Christ crucified. It is easy for them to accept this. But the lesson still is: Love thy neighbor. It's the test, too.

Remedy For Defects

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The drafting of 19-year-olds first will cause some complications.

For one thing, it will give more of those with student, occupational or other deferments virtually a free ride. It will thus put an unusually heavy premium on deferments.

As a result, pressure undoubtedly will be put on local boards by relatives and influential friends of young men who want deferments.

A young man deferred for four years of college now has roughly the same chance of going into the armed forces as a man who has not been deferred. That comes from selecting the older men first.

In the way it has been, assuming the young man graduates from college at a normal age and isn't given a deferment for graduate school, the deferred student after graduation is close to the top of the draft list.

This being at the top of the list makes up for the fact that some men have acquired children during their college career and that some are in worse physical condition than they were at 19.

But under the new proposals, in which 19-year-olds are drafted first and deferred young men are thrown into a later 19-year-old pool when their deferments have expired, their chance of being called is much less.

Instead of being at the top of the priority list, the formerly deferred are a small group in a large pool from which names are to be drawn by chance.

Many of that minority of college students who are now shouting so loudly for the end of student deferments would thus get off free under the proposals now planned and those being considered.

There's a simple technique, however, that could, in part, remedy this defect. All 19-year-olds could be selected for the draft as though there were no student deferments. Each 19-year-old selected from the draft could then be required to take ROTC or some equivalent officers' training course during his college career.

If there weren't such a course in his school the student would be required to join an evening group in his locality or a series of summer training camps. He would understand that he would be required to serve as an enlisted man or complete college if he did not complete his officers' training course.

The young man would also be informed that, since he had been selected by a fair and impartial system, having children after his selection and before his service would not normally exempt him from military duty.

Jesus Flogged, on Pilate's Order

Oppressors Of Jews Staged Crucifixion

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

A thick, jostling crush of humanity swarmed the cramped streets of Jerusalem, singing, bartering, baking matzos, getting set for celebration. Masked by the hurly-burly, the world's mightiest power judged Jesus.

Its global peace-keeping army, in league with local oligarchs, had subdued him, and Caesar's haughty envoy looked with disdain at this reputed liberator. His face bloomed from cuffs of the soldiers.

"Are you the king of the Jews?" Pontius Pilate demanded.

The innuendos, the hearsay and the fear-mongering often brand the reformer a revolutionist, and Jesus said, "Do you say this of your own accord, or did others say it to you about Me?"

Pilate sneered, "Am I a Jew?" He loathed them, their religious obstinance, their refusal to worship the emperor, their fractious ways. His ruthless measures to suppress them already had got him in trouble with Tiberius.

But this time, he had a cover. "Your own nation and the chief priests have handed you over to me." He had picked them; he could out them if they got out of line.

Conservative estimates put Jerusalem's population then at a quarter million, jammed within the three-mile circumference of the walls, a number doubled by pilgrims for the Passover, clogging the inner city and tent camps outside it.

The crowd outside the praetorium could have been only a fractional corner of commotion, and it was a managed one at that. "The chief priests," Mark's gospel notes, "stirred up the crowd."

"It was early," says John's gospel. "As soon as it was morning." Mark writes. He says the whole trial was over by the third hour, 9 a. m., following Jesus' seizure around midnight — obviously before most of the native Jewish populace which defended him had even heard of his arrest.

"What accusation do you bring against this man?" Pilate put the formal question for the start of a Roman trial. His Temple subordinates replied, "If this man were not an evildoer, we would not have handed him over."

Pilate twitted their impotence. "Take him yourselves, and judge him by your own laws." They readily conceded, "It is not lawful for us to put any man to death." The empire had restricted them to formalities, and it said who would live or die.

But political whitewash, to keep Pilate off the hook, dictated that provincial collaborators push the charges. "What evil has he done?"

"We found the man perverting our nation, and forbidding us to give tribute to Caesar, and saying that He Himself is Christ a king." That set the scene specifications — three counts of high treason.

He Carried His Own Cross to Golgotha

"He stirs up the people, teaching throughout all Judea, from Galilee even to this place," the Temple chiefs pointed out.

At this point, Pilate signaled the guards to bring Jesus inside the governor's chambers, and there questioned him about his purported Jewish kingship. The mauled prisoner said, "My kingship is not from the world."

"So you are a king?" To Pilate, he was laughable. But the prisoner didn't jest. "You say that I am a king. For this I was born, and for this I have come into the world, to bear witness to the truth. Every one who is of the truth hears my voice."

An impractical visionary, Pilate gauged him, a nothing. "What is truth?"

He left the battered dreamer with the guard, and stepped back outside on the balcony where he posed leniency, a gambit the emperor once ordered in rebuking Pilate for excessive harshness in a previous case of Jewish defiance.

"I find no crime in this man. But you have a custom that I should release the man for you at the Passover. Whom do you want me to release for you, Barabbas or Jesus who is called Christ?"

Two men named Jesus were under indictment that day, the rabbi from Nazareth and Jesus Bar-Abbas. A Zealot insurrectionist who had started a national uprising in the city, allegedly committing murder in the process.

"Bar-Abbas," the pro-Roman lackies called out.

Whether the entire proceeding was prearranged between Pilate and the subservient Temple retinue, which he controlled and whose small, land-holding Sadducean party was halted by the Jewish masses, cannot be ascertained.

But in military-occupied, foreign-ruled states, held by forcibly tramping down native hostility and sporadic revolt, history records that totalitarian regimes — including imperial Rome — often conspired to give false public justifications to their persecutions.

It is also clear that Pilate dissembled during the trial, pretending to be innocently unacquainted with the case, although actually it had been such a disturbing topic in his household that his wife had nightmares about it only the night before.

Pilate himself, as described by Philo, the Alexandrian philosopher of that period, was a merciless, vain, corrupt, insolent tyrant, of "ferocious passions" who engaged in wanton cruelties, rapine and killings.

Although the New Testament tends to picture him only as an indecisive, vacillating man, yielding to crowd pressures, the accounts were compiled at a time when overt expressions on Rome would have further jeopardized Christianity, then an unlicensed, illegal religion, which Rome moved increasingly to stamp out.

Pilate, after eliciting the call for release of Bar-Abbas, went back in his chambers, and ordered the legionaries to flog Jesus, before proceeding further.

Jesus was tied over a short post, and lashed with the multi-thonged, metal-tipped flagellum. Prisoners often died from the punishment. But Jesus came through it, lacerated, bleeding and weakened, but still on his feet.

The legionaries indulged in some soldierly sport, getting the whole cohort of 600 men together, while they arrayed Jesus in purple cloth, twisted a mock crown of thorns on his head, and poked him, saying, "Hail, king of the Jews!"

Pilate had the beaten, ridiculed figure shoved back out on the open pavement, announcing contemptuously, "Behold, the man!"

"Let him be crucified," the Temple officials shouted.

They apparently had criers planted in the crowd to take up the chant, and draw any bystanders into it. The "chief priests and elders persuaded the people," Matthew's gospel puts it, including the uniformed, casual tourists.

Altogether, the Temple employed about 20,000 functionaries, Levite musicians, secretaries, vergers, cooks, guards, and it is possible that their superiors, under the Pilate-sanctioned high priest, got some of them — on duty early at the Temple for the festival — to join the hasty dawn demonstration.

"We have a law, and by that law He ought to die, because He has made Himself the Son of God," the Temple leaders called out.

That was a puzzling, freakish charge to the ears of Pilate, whose only religion was probably a perfunctory emperor worship. Out of annoyed curiosity, he summoned Jesus back inside. "Where are you from?" Pilate quizzed him, cynical about whatever strange answer might be forthcoming. But Jesus, knowing the mockery, stood silent. Infuriated, Pilate blazed at him: "You will not speak to me? Do you not know that I have power to release you, and power to crucify you?" He had the prisoner hauled back outside, goading the cooched crowd further by again proposing to release the culprit.

"If you release this man, you are not Caesar's friend," the Temple minions declared, playing their submissive role to the hilt. "Everyone who makes himself a king sets himself against Caesar."

The Jewish people, however, so hated Caesar that they turned increasingly to violent revolution, culminating in about 30 years in open warfare, crushed by Roman armaments with massive nationwide slaughter and the fiery destruction of Jerusalem.

But Pilate's Sadducean co-workers, a tiny, office-holding clique hated by the bulk of Jews, were on the Roman side. They shouted their support for the conqueror, even as they called for the death of the Jew, Jesus.

Pilate took his seat on the portable bema, and had the badly punneled prisoner dragged front and center. "Here is your king!"

"Away with Him," the official claque stuck with it. "Crucify, crucify him."

The governor kept up the contrived smokescreen to the end. "Shall I crucify your king?"

"We have no king but Caesar!"

Seated on the judicial throne of the world's dominion, Pilate rendered his verdict and passed sentence on Christ — crucifixion, a cruel form of death.

But it was not just a lone tyrant that killed Jesus. It was all sorts of men, the apostles who fled, denied or betrayed, the ruling establishment that feared him, the Roman soldiers that arrested and bullied him, the status-seekers trading principle for prestige.

It also was more than the particular performers in the drama. It was the human firmities, of all times, that compromise men, the compulsions and collusion, the vested interests, the pride of office and power, the fearful grasping for comfort and security — the universal egotisms that despoil life.

Certainly, even in the isolated historical context, it was not generally the Jews, but rather their oppressors, the foe against whom they battled and died by the hundreds of thousands, the arrogant aggressor whose soldiers arrested, whose court condemned and whose executioners killed the greatest Jew of all. It was His Jewish believers who gave His truth to the world.

"In the world, you have tribulation, but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world."

The New Testament describes Judaism as "the root" and Christianity as its branches. The great apostle Paul, a Pharisee and son of a Pharisee, warns Gentiles not to be "wise in your conceits."

"Remember it is not you that

Last weekend our daughter brought her roommate home from college. Our daughter always does her laundry when she comes home and her roommate brought laundry, too, which was fine with me. I happened to see the roommate ironing a man's shirt and I asked whose it was.

She replied, "My boy friend's. And darn it, I have seven shirts this week!"

At the risk of sounding square I told her I had never heard of a girl doing her boy friend's laundry. Both she and my daughter said it was the "in" thing and that any girl at college who wasn't doing a fellow's laundry was considered a cipher.

Am I crazy when I say this is entirely too chummy? — FORTY-SEVEN AND AGING FAST

Dear Aging: If a boy is smart enough to find a girl who is dumb enough to do his laundry, why knock it?

I'll bet a giant-size box of detergent that the laundresses end up with a ring around the wash-tub, and somebody else gets the ring on the finger.

Dear Ann Landers: I was fascinated by the letter from "Life Is A Dung Heap." The woman said anyone who has to write to Ann Landers for help has a screw loose, yet she had joined the throng without even realizing it. I address my remarks to her:

I am the "tramp" (?) who is seeing your husband. I would like to make one point clear, however, he is NOT keeping me. I make $200 a week. And I am not a dumb blonde. I have a master's degree from Columbia University and I'm a brunet.

I did not go after your husband. It was quite the reverse. He finds something in me that he did not find in you — principally a keen appreciation for life and the good things it has to offer. Until he met me, he thought life was a dung heap, too.

And now, because I'm a good sport, I'll give you some advice: If you want your husband back, lose some weight, stop complaining, and make your house a heaven to come home to. Spoil him. Fuss over him. He deserves it. In fact, he's the finest man in the world, and don't forget, he is YOUR husband. I wish he were mine. — BRONXVILLE

Dear Bronxville: Here's your letter, and if that wife is wise she'll take your advice. I couldn't have done better myself.

Dear Ann Landers: I had a little boy out of wedlock seven years ago. I knew it would be difficult to keep him but I couldn't bear to give him up, so I am doing my best.

I have told my family and friends that I was married secretly to an Army officer who was killed overseas. Only my mother knows the truth.

The boy keeps asking for a picture of his Daddy and I wonder if I should show him a picture of my cousin who was killed in the Korean War. It would keep him happy and solve the problem. Your answer will be my decision. — A. G. S.

Dear A. G. S.: Don't add another lie to the one you now have going. It will complicate matters (lies always do), and you'll have to make up six more lies to cover it. Tell the boy you have no picture.

Do you feel ill at ease . . . out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing your request 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

While two diamonds is the negative response to an artificial two club opening there is no rule that you can't respond two diamonds with a pretty good hand.

North has an ace and two kings and is interested in getting to a slam the moment he hears South's two club opening but he has no convenient positive response. He has no suit to bid and no reason to want to be declarer at a no-trump contract. North's best bet is to mark time by responding with two diamonds. When South rebids two no-trump to show 23 or 24 high card points and a no-trump problem. He moves directly to six no-trump because he counts 33 or 34 high card points for the partnership.

Poor West has to lead against the no-trump slam and will probably pick the eight of clubs. This will spoil any chance for East to get any value out of his jack of clubs but it is definitely West's best lead.

South will still have plenty of problems but his best play will be to start by winning the club in his hand, cashing dummy's ace and king of that suit, leading a spade to his king, cashing his last club and then playing out his ace and jack of spades.

West will be in with the queen and have to lead away from one of his red queens. Either lead will give declarer his twelfth trick.

Of course, South had plenty of other lines of play at his disposal but this one is most logical. The important thing to note is that if North were declarer at six no-trump and East were to open anything but a club, North would probably go down.

Project Boosts Price Of Cisco

Local acceptance, repeat sales on retail and institutional levels and enthusiasm are excellent for the Lake Superior fish fillets being produced at Hancock in a cooperative program to upgrade the fishing industry, Frank Mead reported at the UPCAP delegate body meeting here this week.

The Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, engaged for the first time in a project such as this, hopes to provide more economical fishing methods with a Bureau-equipped trawl fishing the "Keweenaw" and to develop more efficient fishing methods.

Species such as cisco (lake herring) chub and smelt are used as they are the only ones in sufficient quantity to justify the commercial processing and financial return.

The program is aimed to keep the industry alive until return of more lucrative fisheries when the lake is again producing lake trout and whitefish. The plan is to produce, process and freeze fish during the glut seasons, place the Lake Superior fish on the market on a year-round basis, stabilize markets, eliminate price fluctuations due to excessive supply and increase fishermen's revenue through higher grade products. Development of a solution to a rancidity problem aided the project.

To directly involve industry in the pilot plant at Hancock, machinery use was donated for two years. Once the Bureau's commitment is fulfilled and funds exhausted, the industry, hopefully, will be ready to continue the project.

Nine members of the industry have organized Inland Seas Inc. It has a no-loss research contract to produce 50,000 pounds of breaded chub, cisco and smelt in retail and institutional packs. With technical assistance, the company has now fulfilled two-fifths of its contract and will complete it as soon as the lake opens and fish are in abundant supply.

Inland Seas has recently been incorporated in Minnesota and Wisconsin but for the present plans to remain Michigan-based.

The pilot plant employs a minimum of 12 and this could be increased with greater production. Fishermen are receiving three to five cents a pound more for freshly caught cisco from Inland Seas than from the going market price.

Ann Arbor Proposes Ending Ferry Service

A petition by the Ann Arbor Railroad to discontinue railroad car ferry service out of Manistique and Menominee is expected to be filed following the ending of a preliminary study.

C. L. Towle, president of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railroad, parent firm of the Ann Arbor, reported that the petition will be filed with the Michigan Public Utilities Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Towle has confirmed that a preliminary study is under way, but if discontinuance of the railroad car ferry service at Manistique is feasible the petitions will be filed.

The prospects for continued service are not good he said. No definite decision has been made, however, and there is no immediate cessation of service in prospect.

No Pellet Ore

The firm is studying the entire railroad ferry operation on Lake Michigan. Loadings at Keweenaw and Manitowoc, on the Wisconsin side of the lake, seem stable, Towle said, but Menominee and Manistique, both in the Upper Peninsula, were regarded as marginal. Manistique has the least amount of shipping of all the four ports, Towle continued.

Last year the railroad shipped loaded cars of iron ore pellets from the Marquette area, down to the Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Co. This year there has been no pellet business.

"Ford evidently concluded this was not economical," Towle said.

Last year in January we shipped 1,053 cars through Manistique. This year we had nine cars.

The railroad had held high hopes for the development of the pellet trade and made a considerable investment last summer in improving the roadbed of the Manistique and Lake Superior Railroad that runs from the ferry docks to a connecting spur at Doty, south of Munising.

Shippers Notified

Three ferries are now being operated by the company — the City of Green Bay, the Viking, and the A. K. Atkinson. The old coal-burning Ann Arbor No. 5, which had been used as a stand-by boat, has now been taken out of service.

Shippers using the railroad ferry connection were notified Monday by Richard Gunton of the firm's traffic department that discontinuance of service was being contemplated.

The Manistique harbor has been free of ice, but boat traffic has been irregular here this winter. One ferry called here Tuesday, and the one before that came in on March 13. Last year several boats a day loaded the pellet cars.

UFO Reports Are Numerous

In the past several months many reports of UFOs in our area have been received, the information office of Kincheloe AFB reports.

However, crews of the 753rd radar squadron at Sault Ste. Marie have not noted anything unusual in connection with these sightings, 1st Lt. Andrew S. Knight said.

The mode of operations of the unit has not changed significantly in the past few years, so it would not be a potential explanation of the sightings, he said.

Highway Funds Freed For Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Restrictions on the use of $175 million in highway funds freed for use by the states have been removed by the Bureau of Public Roads.

The money was part of $1.1 billion for highways frozen last fall by presidential order to take the heat out of the economy.

With indications that the threat of inflation was lessening, the bureau released the $175 million last month but said it could be used only for right-of-way and engineering work tied to later construction. However, these limitations were rescinded.

Release of an additional $350 million for unrestricted use was announced last weekend.

Contributions To Chips Welcomed

A far out oriental viewpoint of the War in Vietnam is reported in the Note Book column of Le Trang in the March 6 edition of the Saigon Daily News:

"Hanoi has undoubtedly known that the effect of the bombing over North Vietnam is devastating but it seems not to have been willing to save the rest of what the North Vietnamese population has built during the past 13 years. 'I put this question to one of the Vietnamese watchers one day. He laughed and asked me back: 'Do you think that Hanoi is really afraid of the bombing? It is the Hanoi authorities who wish the bombing to be continued until everything that has any connection with the past will be destroyed. They want to build a new and modern society over there.'"

"But how can they build it after total destruction? I asked. 'Of course they cannot build it themselves. It is the Americans who will do it. 'The Americans will build a modern society for North Vietnam? Are you silly?'"

"Listen. Do you remember the U.S. once promised to use several billion dollars to restore the economy of Southeast Asian countries, including North Vietnam if the Communists cease their aggression? At that time North Vietnam was only slightly hurt by the bombing, so Hanoi thought it was absurd to demand huge sums as war reparations from the U.S. if the damages were not really serious. So they have tried to lead from one bombing escalation to another until every old bridge, shabby building, every foot of their old railways and roads are destroyed or damaged. Then they will change their conditions for a cease-fire and just demand that the Americans rebuild what they have destroyed."

"What will they do if Washington knows this—trick it there is really a trick—and will not accept their demand for reparations?"

"There will be a bargaining and finally the U.S. will gladly accept... If they have to rebuild North Vietnam they will be able to send their men there... The people will not greet them as enemies but as friends. The U.S. will then win the hearts of the North Vietnamese people and thus can be considered as winners of the war. 'The North Vietnamese authorities can achieve their purpose from this peace aggression. This will be a happy ending of a long comedy-tragedy.'"

From Cincinnati, the equipment will go to New York, then by boat to the Philippines.

Fr. Jordan Telles, O.F.M., of St. Joseph's Church in Escanaba, who is a member of the same order as Fr. Hermes, coordinated the operation.

Currently, the order has 17 priests and three brothers from the Province assigned to the Philippines. They care for five parishes and the many marionette missions on the islands of Bilirand and Maripipi and on the mainland of Leyte.

They also operate a college and seminary.

When the tractor arrives, there will be another duty.

State Timber Sales In U.P. Total $46,368

A total of $46,368 has been received from the sale of timber on state land in the Upper Peninsula for February, according to the regional office of the Michigan Department of Conservation, Marquette.

The Baraga-Crystal Falls District reported the receipts in the amount of $14,694 on 79 active permits, plus $611 for the sale of gravel. In addition, foresters cruised 1,180 acres for future sales, completed power line easements in Dickinson County on 52 tracts which involved $6,300 in stumpage. Four cutting permits were issued, 12 deeryard cuttings were in operation and 16 landowners were assisted with the management of timber on their lands.

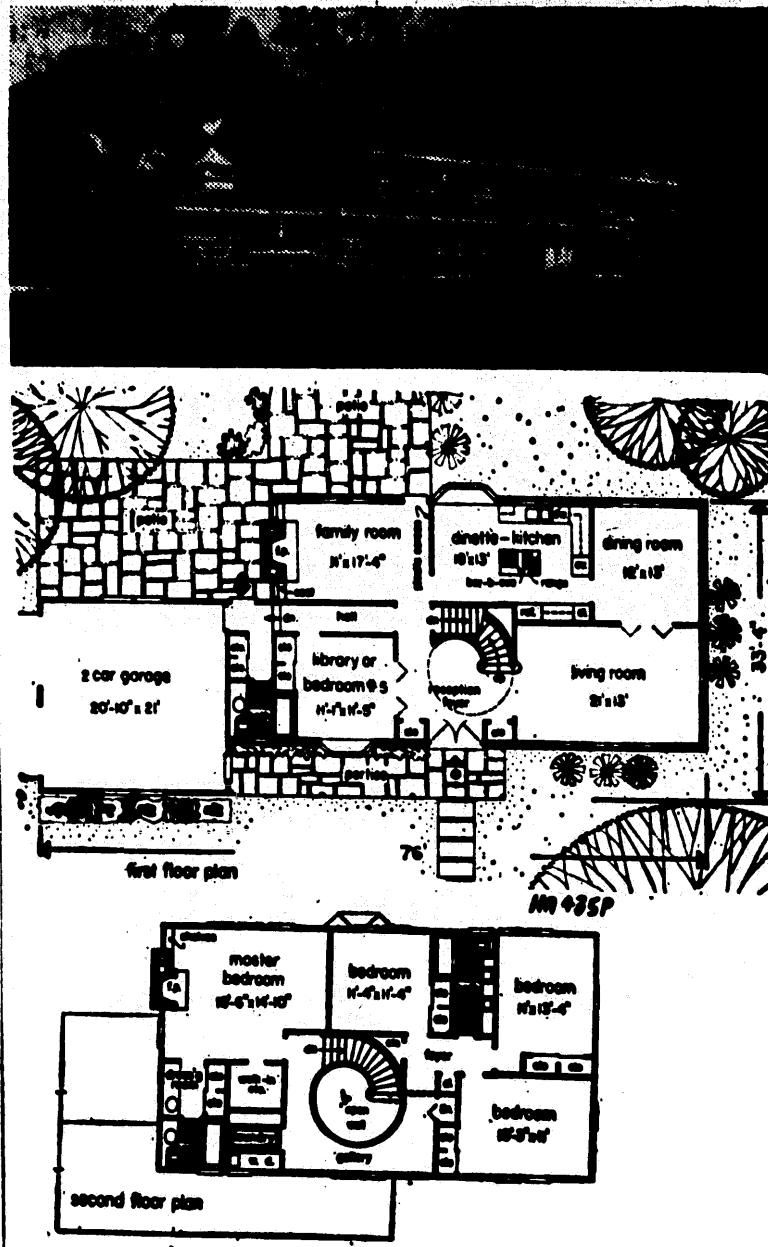

Foresters in the Escanaba District checked out $17,845 in timber sales receipts on 152 active cutting permits during the month. In addition, there were 111 cutting permits in areas where deer were yarded, providing valuable food. Six and one half miles of transit line was run, plus 12 1/2 miles of compass lines. Twenty-two new cutting permits will bring in an estimated $9,761 worth of timber cut on 585 acres.

Ninety-one active timber cutting permits in District IV brought in a total of $13,828. Twenty-four new timber cutting permits will bring in an estimated $9,761 worth of timber cut on 585 acres.

Detergents Are Killing Lake Erie

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The phosphate in soap detergents may make your wash lighter, brighter, and whiter. But it's also making Lake Erie filthier. Water pollution experts said in a report released Wednesday that phosphorus is the major cause of water pollution in Lake Erie. The experts called on the soap industry to find a substitute for phosphates in detergents.

They said that phosphorus is a nutrient that stimulates excess algae growth in Lake Erie, which pollutes the lake.

"Eighty per cent of the water pollution comes from municipal wastes," said a committee. "And about 66 per cent of the phosphorus in municipal wastes comes from detergents."

More Employers Are Recruiting College Seniors

EAST LANSING (AP)—Despite rumors of business recession, more employers than ever before are recruiting college seniors and salaries still are going up, says a Michigan State University official.

Only three employers have cancelled their planned visits to MSU with the excuse that business is declining, John D. Shingleton, MSU placement director, said.

He said 118 more employers already have visited the campus than at the same time last year. "Employers realize now they must plan for long range manpower needs, and not just hiring quotas to short-run economic fluctuation," he said.

Starting salaries have gone up 5 per cent a year for the last five years, Shingleton added. He said this year's starting salaries are up 5 to 7 per cent.

High salaries for new employees, though, are causing morale problems among regular employees whose salaries have not gone up proportionately, he said.

Seek Negro Talent "One of the employers' most critical problems, however, is the shortage of qualified Negro talent," Shingleton said. "They are under considerable pressure from all sides to hire Negroes."

"The jobs are there, and many employers are reducing their requirements in order to hire Negroes, but the shortage persists," he said.

Shingleton expects a shortage in general of graduates available for jobs because more and more are going on to graduate school and many are entering military service. There are critical shortages of talent in some fields, he said.

Accountants in particular seem to be in great demand, along with engineering, science, finance, personnel and marketing majors, he added.

But demand for students from the nontechnical areas has increased more than that for technical graduates, he said.

Want More Women He said the gap between starting salaries for the two fields still is wide—with electrical engineers starting at an average $734 a month and liberal arts majors receiving $590. But, he said, 25 years ago liberal arts graduates received just $225 a month.

Shingleton said employers want to hire more women, but women are not being trained in the high demand areas of science, engineering and accounting.

He said women will be able to compete with men for the top opportunities when they are willing to "pay the price"—place a higher priority on a career than on other things, such as marriage and family.

Pool Condemned

GROSSE POINTE PARK (AP)—City Manager Robert A. Stone says the State Health Department has refused to grant Grosse Pointe Park a permit to operate its municipal swimming pool this summer. The state ruled the pool had inadequate safeguards against pollution. Voters turned down last November a $1 million bond issue to build new pools to replace the present 35-year-old pool.

Holidays Cut Car Production

DETROIT (AP)—U.S. auto production fell off to an estimated 134,735 cars this week because of the Easter holidays. Assembly plants will be closed Good Friday until Monday.

This week's 134,735 compares with 162,949 automobiles built last week and 196,919 built in the like week of 1966.

For the year to date the industry is reported by Automotive News, a trade publication, to have built 1,717,094 cars, compared with 2,339,526 for the comparable span of 1966, the second best sales year in industry history.

Truck assemblies this week totaled 28,009, against 34,288 last week and 37,734 in the year-ago week. This week's output brought the year's production to date to 408,447, compared with 454,664 in the same period last year.

Mission To Get Needed Tractor

Because of a long-standing friendship between Fr. Samuel Hermes, O.F.M., and the Edward Marenger family of Escanaba, a Franciscan Mission in the Philippines is going to get a tractor from Escanaba.

The tractor was donated by the family, which operates Escanaba Machine Co., farm implement dealers, after they learned of the lack of mechanical farm equipment on the islands through correspondence with Fr. Hermes.

In addition, Fr. Hermes looked at the tractor and indicated how useful it would be when he visited in Escanaba last year after completing six years on the Island of Leyte. The son of Mrs. Lucille Perow Hermes, 223 N. 15th St., and the late William Hermes, he was reassigned to the Philippines' Missions last summer.

New Equipment "The tractor is a God-send," says Fr. Hermes. "When it arrives it will be used for cultivating, mowing, clearing and many other agricultural needs. The Missions are poor and a livelihood depends upon the products of the soil. The tractor will provide food for the Missions and Missionaries and people alike for many years."

Dick Marenger, who with brothers Wally and Harold and their father, Edward, own Escanaba Machine, graduated from St. Joseph High School in 1945 with Fr. Hermes. Through the years, they have maintained an active friendship through letters.

"They need a lot of mechanical equipment which isn't readily available," Dick said. "They appreciate any donations."

Dick said that the tractor, an International Harvester, was completely reconditioned and equipped with new tires and a cultivator. It was taken to Chicago recently for shipment to Cincinnati, the home office for Franciscan Missions, to prepare it for overseas shipment.

Goes To New York From Cincinnati, the equipment will go to New York, then by boat to the Philippines.

Fr. Jordan Telles, O.F.M., of St. Joseph's Church in Escanaba, who is a member of the same order as Fr. Hermes, coordinated the operation.

Currently, the order has 17 priests and three brothers from the Province assigned to the Philippines. They care for five parishes and the many marionette missions on the islands of Bilirand and Maripipi and on the mainland of Leyte.

They also operate a college and seminary.

When the tractor arrives, there will be another duty.

ESCANABA MUNICIPAL ELECTRIC UTILITY

EXPANSION RANCH: This pleasant-appearing ranch house, with the popular three-bedroom layout at one end of floor plan, has an added feature—an expansion area upstairs that can be utilized for two bedrooms, a bath and generous storage space.

Ranch Has Expansion Area

By ANDY LANG
Two recent Houses of the Week with second floors gave every appearance, from the front of being one-story residences. They proved so popular that we are bringing still a third to you. This one solves the problems of a family oriented to ranch-house living but needing the extra bedroom space afforded by an expansion house. It's a low, long, rambling dwelling that appears to be a conventional ranch, but has a pleasant surprise under its roof: two extra bedrooms and a bath upstairs.

Architect William G. Chirgotis has designed an exterior that tastefully blends walls of brick, shingles and vertical boarding with a long roof with its ridge line divided into several levels. This division of the ridge line relieves the monotony of a straight profile and at the same time provides the headroom required to tuck extra living space unobtrusively under part of the roof.

The entrance foyer is centrally located between the living-dining areas and the sleeping quarters. The living room, immediately to its left, has a large picture window unit set in a box-bay. Beyond the living room, also in the front of the house, is the dining room, entered through an arched opening 8' wide.

The family room, kitchen and laundry room are in line in the back part of the house. An inviting, corner fireplace in the family room is visible from the foyer and thus helps to create a favorable first impression. Fully equipped with modern appliances and plenty of counter and storage space, the kitchen has a dinette area which looks out to the rear garden and patio. To the left of the kitchen is the laundry room, with closet space that could be utilized as a pantry if desired. There are two doors in this room, one leading to the rear yard, the other to the two-car garage.

To the right of the foyer is a hall leading to three bedrooms and two baths. The two front bedrooms will accommodate most furniture arrange-

G-79 STATISTICS

Design G-79 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, family room, laundry room, foyer, three bedrooms and a bath on the main floor, with a total habitable area of 1,772 square feet. There is space upstairs for one large bedroom or, with the addition of a small shed dormer in the rear, two bedrooms and a bath. The over-all dimensions of the house itself are 64' 6" by 30' 6". If the two-car garage is attached to the house, 22' 66" are added to the figures. The architect has provided alternate plans for a garage under the bedroom wing of the house, an arrangement that would not add to the land space required.

The master bedroom, also with excellent wall space, has three closets and its own bath, the latter fully tiled, with its basin set in an attractive, built-in vanity, and with a stall shower.

A stairway in the foyer leads upstairs to the attic space above the bedroom wing. This can be finished off into one large bedroom or, with the addition of a small shed dormer in the rear, turned into two bedrooms, a full bath and three giant closets.

CORNER FIREPLACE: Attractive fireplace in the corner of the family room, at rear of house, is located so that it can be seen immediately, the moment anyone opens the front door.

An interesting alternative is provided in the architect's plans for the location of the garage, which is shown attached to the left of the house in the artist's rendering of the exterior. If the lot is not wide enough to accommodate the garage there, alternate plans place it in the basement area under the bedroom wing. Whichever location is chosen, the garage can handle two cars as well as garden and lawn equipment.

This house achieves the unity of building and site that a ranch accomplishes so well, since it sits low on its lot. Yet it provides a family with three four or five bedrooms, depending on its needs and without increasing the amount of land necessary for construction.

FLOOR PLANS: Three distinct zones are delineated. The living room-dining room area at left front serves for formal entertaining; kitchen and family room at the left rear for informal dining and gathering; and the wing at the left for sleeping, with two extra bedrooms upstairs.

Alcohol Is Killer Helper

BOSTON (AP)—A five-year study of the blood alcohol level of 516 persons killed on Massachusetts' highways from 1962 to 1966 showed that more than 60 per cent were impaired by alcohol, state police said.

A blood alcohol level of 0.10 per cent or greater was the criterion for determining impairment.

Seek To Design Better Brassiere

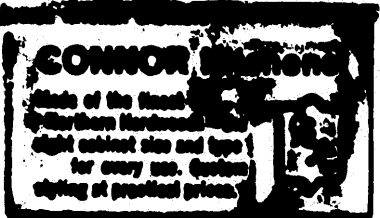

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP)—Eighty freshmen at Harvey Mudd College have petitioned the engineering department to let them undertake the design and development of a better brassiere.

Proposed Project Uplift was outlined by David De Ford, 18, as follows:

"It could be approached like a bridge. There are stresses and strains to be considered, and the frequency of collapses."

Music Camp Vacations Grow Popular

ON-KEY OFF-KEY VACATIONS GROWING: This summer over 140,000 young people will strum, blow, bang and beat musical instruments (including vocal chords) in some 300 music camps coast to coast, staffed by 9,000-plus music teachers. This new note is being struck by U. S. music camps, an idea wistfully sprouted 15 years ago by a handful of musicians.

In 1967, most of this musical movement will be created by teen men and girls (through preteens and collegians also flock to this vacation tune toothing). On summer dog days, almost every shape and size of musical instrument will be taught, going up and down the scale from Bach to Beatles — string, woodwind, brass ensembles... orchestras... concert bands, marching bands... as well as instruction in individual instruments, folk singing or other musical study. The melodious camp season lasts from one to eight weeks... costs from $20 up to $100 a week... and usually mixes sports and fun with tune tutoring. If you feel an urge toward this do-re-mi kind of vacation... check with the director of your music department or nearby college.

MORE QUICK FROZEN FACTS: Only a few years ago guys away from home dreamed of mom's apple pie. Unlikely today... guys now are used to loading up on them... not just frozen. Teen shoppers favor frozen food purchases... not just anything... For the latest year there's full data (1965), frozen food consumption throughout the United States rose 17 per cent — which meant on the average a total of 60 pounds per person. Biggest jump was in frozen meals, next in prepared foods, then juices and concentrates. Some random, quick-frozen facts about your average icy intake: 39 per cent of you go for frozen meat pies; 40.7 per cent dessert-type pies; 47 per cent

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

fish that's frozen; 35 per cent frozen duck; and 59.5 per cent for high-toned quick-frozen rock Cornish hen. You're building up quite an eating cool in the frozen-food field.

HOW TO MOP UP TELLTALE MESSAGES: Supposing two of you go out... he is decorated with an adhesive bandage... she with lipstick... both drink soft drinks (sloppily!). Some hours pass and stains from each of these things get generously smeared on. Here's the solution for each of these messes: the adhesive goo — apply kerosene, then wash in warm suds (so what if he smells like an outdoor motor?); lipstick, soften in glycerin, then launder in hot suds (equally effective for cheek or shirt collar); soft drinks — since even the colorless ones tend to turn brown, soak with cold water or half water and half alcohol, then rub with glycerin... later launder in suds. Presto! all gone!

TO DATE OR NOT TO DATE: Depth studies of "average" and "normal" boys in a suburban Chicago high school by Dr. Danier Offer comes up with the following dating patterns. By the time high school freshman year had ended 45 per cent hadn't gone out with girls; by the junior year 77 per cent were dating; and by the end of the senior year 95 per cent were. Dr. Offer finds that a myth "is being perpetuated by the public and lay magazines about the appalling increase in dating and sexual behavior among high school students." He finds students he studied "are functioning well within their culture and seem to be able to cope with stresses and strains of their lives." The students agreed that most arguments with their parents had occurred during seventh and eighth grades. During high school there was "a relative lack of rebelliousness against parents or society" in this group. But, one thing the parents of the boys weren't aware of — the teen-age guys felt one or the other of their parents understood them... almost never that both did.

SUMMER STAMPEDE: This summer some 300,000 students will travel outside the U. S. with the aim, at least in part, to study. Right now, with chill winds still blowing, is the hottest time to make plans — because ships, planes, accommodations, or groups and projects for skipping aboard are shaping up summer schedules. This summer there are special travel-study gimmicks for guys and gals: walking with a pack on your back and bunking in youth hostels (camps) a pack on your back; families (hats) a hundred countries, from Europe to Japan; studying on campuses (mostly colleges and universities, overseas). If you're caught with the bug, opportunities exist from the age 15 and up... last from two weeks to two months or more... and can cost from $75 (tour of Canadian youth hostels) to $2,100 (Choate School travel seminar to the U.S.S.R.). Average dollar bite — probably around $750. Take your pick from these four typical programs: 1. The American Field Service sponsors an international fellowship exchange, bringing foreign students to U. S. communities and swapping U. S. juniors to study and live with families in 30 countries abroad. 2. The Canadian Youth Hostels Association conducts two- to four-week canoeing, cycling, horseback-riding, hiking and camping tours through Canada and Alaska. 3. The Experiment in International Living arranges homestays for a month abroad for individual teenagers, followed by informal tours of the country for a similar period. 4. The YMCA, through its Office of Educational Travel, offers a variety of foreign camper tours, work camp visits, home exchanges, and educational tours... keyed to suit almost any U. S. high school group. And there are a raft of others, including major programs of Youth for Understanding, Inc. (Ann Arbor) and many public and private school and college projects. To find out more, check with your school counselor, also church, "Y," etc. Or write for the information-packed booklet, "Students Abroad; High School Student Program" — free from the Council on Student Travel, Inc., Box Y, 777 United Nations Plaza, New York, N. SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A symposium scheduled for March 31-April 2 at San Francisco State College has been called off because of a lack of interest. Only 30 persons registered.

The symposium subject? "The Male in America."

As a sauce for smoked tongue, you might like to mix grated pared apple, bottled horseradish and a suspicion of salt with commercial sour cream. Add a touch of sugar, if you like.

LOVELY WHITE LILIES are in abundance at this time of year as they are the traditional Easter flower. This particular species produced in Escanaba is the 'King Lily.' They have very large pure white blooms and require about four months of growing time at 60 degree temperature. (Daily Press Photo)

Seven Pounds Down, Thirteen To Go: Peggy

By PEGGY BRYSON

Here we are with the third installment of the continuing drama "Pudgy Peggy's Problem Persists." I must admit the weight isn't exactly dropping off but in two weeks the scale registers seven pounds less . . . just three pounds more and it's half-wayville! Losing 20 pounds is a whole lot harder than I thought . . . I had one heartening moment last week when my doctor said I could have 1,000 calories per day. I had previously tried to keep my calories under that and I got a little weak in the knees from hunger.

If you don't know, 1,000 calories isn't exactly gorging yourself. Did you know you could consume 1,000 by just eating: 20 carrots or three and a half cups of baked beans or two pieces of coconut cream pie or just two cups of raisins! But then, it's encouraging to know if you had a mind to you could eat 200 stalks of celery or 33 cups of cabbage or about that many egg whites (uncooked, heaven forbid).

I'm proud of all you people who are dieting along with me . . . most everyone is doing well and for those of you who would like to know about the calories in cocktails . . . WELL, it's like this. Let's take a typical night of playing poker with the boys (not ME, this is purely hypothetical) gram. It will be held at 10 a. m., Saturday in the Children's Room of Escanaba Public Library. The stories will be: "Mrs. Wick and the 740 Rabbits," bluffing . . . 55 calories per tablespoon, about another 500. and "The Little Brute Family,"

CRYSTAL FALLS—A community campaign to raise $7,000 to purchase an artificial kidney machine for a local resident to use at Crystal Falls Hospital has gone over the top. Mrs. Janet Hendrickson, treasurer, reports $8,133 has been collected. The machine will allow Dick DeNell to receive treatments locally rather than be forced to move to Milwaukee.

IRON MOUNTAIN—The Iron Mountain Board of Education will ask its school district voters to approve a whopping 11 mills for operation and a $200,000 bond issue May 16. The operating millage proposal includes renewal of 8 mills which are expiring, plus an additional 3 mills. The bond issue would finance construction and remodeling work at three schools.

IRONWOOD — One of the names submitted in a contest to select a new name for Goebic Community College is "Go-Onto College," which if adopted would give the college its own recruiting slogan.

CALUMET — The Calumet village council has ordered village police to crack down on local business places who have failed to comply with an ordinance requiring metal containers for garbage. Police were told to continue checks on known offenders and if the situations are not improved to issue summonses.

HOUGHTON — Voters of Houghton have approved a $80,000 bond issue to provide additional water supplies for the community by a large (355 to 118) majority. The bond issue will help finance water main construction to new Michigan Tech facilities.

Abortion Deaths Rise In Michigan

DETROIT (AP)—Deaths from abortions are increasing in Michigan, according to a Detroit physician. Dr. Lee Stevenson, who reviewed 677 maternal deaths from 1955 to 1965, wrote in "Michigan Medicine," a publication of the Michigan State Medical Society. "Maternal mortality from abortion, when compared with maternal mortality from all causes, comprises more than a fifth of the deaths in the first five-year period (1955 through 1959) and more than a third in the 1960 through 1964 period."

GLADSTONE Covenant School To Give Mission Program Sunday

The Sunday School of Evangelical Covenant Church will present a missionary program, "The Bread of Life", Easter morning at 9:45, under the direction of Miss Lois Borna. Pupils taking part in the program will appear in costumes representing 11 countries. Musical selections of each country will be sung by a choir composed of Lynn, Apelgren, Karen and Tom Becvar, Art and Cheryl Hendrickson, Cheryl Juneau, Gary Larson, Dale, Gerald, and Susan Nyberg, Karla Olson and Kristin Olson.

Gary Hultman To Tell Of Congo

A Special Missionary Service will be held at Evangelical Covenant Church Sunday at 7:30 p. m. Mr. Gary Hultman of Menominee, will tell of his missionary experiences in the Republic of the Congo, where he served for a year.

The missionary is the son of Rev. William Hultman, pastor of the Evangelical Covenant Church of Menominee. His service in the Congo included the installation of a radio transcription studio for the use of the Evangelical Church of the Ubangi. Programs are prepared on tape for broadcast over the state-owned radio station. The public is invited to attend any or all of the Easter festival services at the Evangelical Covenant Church.

Sheriffs Ask For Guidelines On Crime News

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Sheriff's Association has asked that top priority be given to the establishment of reasonable guidelines for the release of information dealing with criminal activities to the news media. A spokesman for Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said meetings are being planned on the matter but indicated Kelley saw no need to rush into it. Kelley has been in favor of voluntary cooperation on the issue and against any set of hard and fast rules. "Every peace officer knows how vital news is to effective law enforcement," said Sheriff Elwin Smith of Eaton County, president of the Sheriff's Association. "But we also are well aware of recent court decisions which tend to cast a shadow on the question of what we can, and what we cannot release to the news media." Smith said the situation has become even more confusing since the suspension of so-called guidelines proposed by State Police Director Col. Frederick DeVos for the release of information by State Police. These would have withheld many types of information previously made available to the press, radio and other news media. Gov. George Romney and Kelley, who had not been consulted in the drafting of the State Police rules, immediately ordered them suspended.

The United States will be represented by American Indians portrayed by David Nyberg, Karol Becvar, Kim Olson, Jim Laughbaum, Lynne Godfrey, Anders Nyberg, Bobby Beaudry, Tom Olson, Sheri Roddy and Tim Goodyer.

Esquimos to represent Canada and Alaska are Carol Augustson, Dale Hendrickson, Jon Apelgren, Ricky Nyberg, Margaret and Carol Laughbaum, Sheri and Susie Anderson and Myra Beaudry. Other country representatives will be Keith Hendrickson and Kendall Apelgren, India; Anne Olson, Juanita Roddy, Marlen and Marilyn Beaudry, China; Carol Nyberg, Carolyn Olson, Kathy Becvar, Japanese girls who will comprise a vocal trio; Barbara Nyberg, Italy; Jim Goodyer and Tim Goodyer, Brazil; Marie Beaudry, Carole Goodyer and Sheila Roddy, Philippine Islands; Terri DeMentier, Korea; Michael Augustson, Terry Smoot and Jim Roddy, Africa; and Debbie Erickson, Tibet.

Dale Nyberg will present closing Missionary remarks and the program will conclude with the closing hymn and benediction.

An instrumental trio, Gerald Nyberg, Tom Becvar and Michael Augustson will present the offertory. Members are asked to be at the church between 9:15 and 9:30 a. m. Sunday and to come dressed in their costumes.

Marquette Catholic Central, the school which has put in a bid for membership in the Great Northern Conference, has an excellent record. In athletic competition this year the Cavaliers fashioned a 6-3 football record and won 17 of 22 starts in basketball. The Great Northern Conference will reduce to five teams when Stephenson drops out at the end of the current year to join the new Land O' Lakes loop.

Escanaba's complete domination of the Great Northern Conference in basketball this season was fantastic. The Eskymos not only won the GNC championship but had the individual leader in every statistical category. Paul Miller led in scoring and free throw shooting, Bob Myrvall in field goal shooting, Dave Nyquist in rebounding and Dan Mylander in assists.

In addition, the Eskymos as a team set new conference records for the season in scoring, most free throws attempted and made, most field goals, most assists, most rebounds, highest field goal percentage and highest free throw percentage.

Paul Miller practically rewrote the entire conference record book this season. He established five new single game records, four season records and three career records.

The Upper Peninsula high school coaching profession is losing one of its most respected members in Harold Johnson. Escanaba High School basketball mentor for the past 11 years, Johnson not only compiled one of the most successful records in Upper Peninsula ranks during his Esky career, but turned out some of the finest basketball players in the region. He leaves behind him a reputation of the highest moral athletic standards in addition to a brilliant won-lost career.

The film of the Joe Louis-Tony Galento heavyweight title fight which was run following Casius Clay's seventh round knockout of Zora Folley stirred a lot of boxing memories. Although the Louis performance was 30 years old, it was extremely impressive even by modern day standards. After watching the film, one boxing buff said that if Louis fought Clay today he'd predict that in whatever round Clay said he'd take him — that's the round that Joe would knock him out.

Craig Farrell, former Ironwood high school and Gogebic Community College star, was the only Michigan Tech player named to the Northern Intercollegiate Conference all-star team this season. Farrell, son of former Ironwood coach Gene Farrell, scored 148 points to lead Tech in 12 conference games.

Joining Northern's Con Zagodzinski and Bill Koski on the Crystal Falls McNeil Oiler team in the Hermansville amateur basketball tournament Saturday night will be highly regarded Gene Vischer of Muskegon, a Little All-America player from Weaver State College in Utah. McNeil's is shooting for the Class A championship which was won by Ralph Oll of Marquette last year.

Pershing Ace Is All-Stater

By The Associated Press

When a high school basketball player is six feet, eight inches tall, averages 25 points a game, blocks shots, shows great rebounding, has tremendous stamina and slick moves, what happens to him?

Aside from getting more than a few offers of college basketball scholarships, he gets named a unanimous Associated Press Class A All-Stater.

Sports writers from all over the state were unanimous in selecting Spencer Haywood, the Detroit Pershing star, to the 10-man squad.

Haywood leads a sparkling team that would gladden any coach's heart. Others are Don bounds per game. He stands 6-3. Rafferty, 6-3, is a team leader, averaging 20 points a game, and has a mighty sharp eye from the foul line. He sank 18 of 19 free throws in one game and 19 of 21 in another.

Thon is 6-5 and the leading scorer in the Saginaw Valley League with a 23.3 average.

Ferri is considered a great driver, rebounder and team player. He is credited with 70 steals during the season and averaged more than 25 points per game. He is 6-3.

MILLER HONORED
Paul Miller, Escanaba's 6 foot 1 inch guard and the school's all time scoring champion, was the only Upper Peninsula player named to the Class A honorable mention list.

Pro Cage Teams Take 2-0 Lead; Players Tangle

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rough and tumble National Basketball Association action puts both the San Francisco Warriors and the St. Louis Hawks 2-0 today in Western Division semifinal playoffs.

The Warriors gobbled up the Los Angeles Lakers here last night, 113-102, and the Hawks crushed the Chicago Bulls at Chicago Bulls, 113-107, as the four teams continued their best-of-five battles for the title.

Warrior Coach Bill Sharman tagged the playoff game in Los Angeles this way:

"This was a rougher game than normal league games... traditionally playoff games are rougher."

"There's more body contact and the guys are tired and irritable, playing for a lot of money," he said.

Sharman's comments came on the heels of a first fight that erupted in the last minutes of play between the Warriors' Rick Barry and Jerry Chambers of the Lakers.

The fight started with some hot words and both men tossed a couple of punches before officials broke them up.

The next division playoff game is slated between the Bulls and the Hawks Saturday at St. Louis.

The Lakers meet the Warriors again Sunday morning in San Francisco.

No games were scheduled in the Eastern Division NBA playoffs.

The victory for the Hawks came in the final period as Chicago saw its 82-79 lead dwindle.

Lou Hudson made a fast break basket with 6:45 remaining to put St. Louis ahead 99-97.

The Bulls never caught up. Hudson jammed in 29 points during the play.

Laker Coach Fred Schaus blamed his team's defeat on the fast-shooting Warrior, Nate Thurmond.

"Thurmond did it," mourned Schaus. "He did it all at both ends of the court. He rebounded, blocked shots and he intimidated our shooters."

The absence of Laker guard Jerry West, who suffers from a sprained ankle, may have been a cause of Laker despair but Schaus said, "We can't blame the lack of scoring on West's absence."

"Anyway," he added, "West will probably play Sunday."

Rick Barry led the scoring for the Warriors with 26 points, followed by Thurmond with 22.

lege this season, again paced the Manistique team with 16 points. Ron Rubick, Emerald football mentor and former Michigan State halfback, added 15.

Mike Strohl's Stephenson Strollers came through with a 62-56 decision over Norway Louie's Bar with Jim Dougovito again setting the scoring pace with 23 points. Bruce Weng continued his excellent transition from high school to independent ball with 16 points and Dave Bush contributed 10. Norway was led by Jim LaPine and Len Trudeau with 18 and 17.

The Norway Merchants topped Marquette Bouncers, 67-58, in last night's opener. Don DeMerse led the winners with 23 points.

The Hermansville Stihl Saws felled Champion, 74-66, in the remaining Class B contest last night. John Sinca a 6 foot 5 inch pivotman, laced in 27 points to pace the Hermansville crew. John Barley canned 13, Jack Dooley and Doug LaCourse 12 apiece. Jim Mitchell topped the Champion attack with 22.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The University of Arizona continued its sweep of a baseball series with Michigan Thursday when it won the fourth game 12-8 in Tucson.

The Wildcats exploded for 11 runs in the third inning. John Hosmer was the winning pitcher for the Wildcats. Jim Lyytinen was the loser.

The two teams will meet again Saturday in a doubleheader to conclude the six-game series.

Central Loses For First Time

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Central Michigan University lost its first baseball game this spring Wednesday when Memphis State bombed the Chippewas 7-2.

Central's first run came in the fourth inning when Al Hauer singled, advanced to second on a fielder's choice and scored on a single by third baseman Pat O'Keefe.

The Chippewas scored another in the sixth when Tom Krawczyk walked and O'Keefe and Jack Benedict assembled a pair of singles to score him.

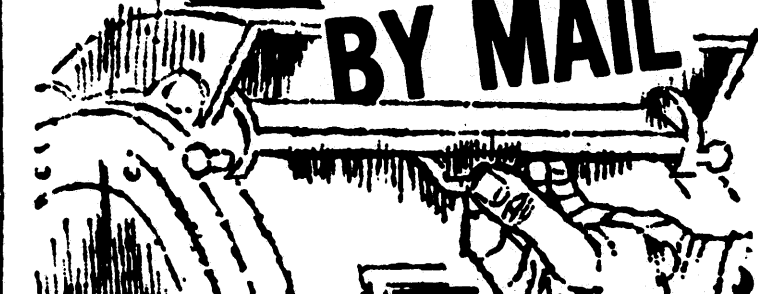

The big gun for Memphis State was infielder Gary Taylor who singled in the first to knock in two runs and then came back in the fifth with a double that pushed two more across the plate.

If Any Team Is Going To Beat Baltimore, It Could Be Tigers

By JACK HAND

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — If anybody is going to beat the Baltimore Orioles this year, it could be the Detroit Tigers.

Mayo Smith, returning to the managerial ranks after an eight-year lapse, can make a run for it all the way if he can straighten out his pitching staff.

Mayo hired an expert helper to work with the pitchers when he picked up Johnny Sain, who did exceptionally fine jobs with the Yankees and Minnesota Twins.

A personality conflict with coach Billy Martin and Manager Sam Mele led to his shift from the Twins to the Tigers.

The Tigers' pitching was supposed to be formidable last year but Joe Sparma failed to live up to his bright promise and Bill Monbouquette, a consistent winner at Boston, could finish only two of 14 starts for Detroit.

Good Hitting
Detroit has the hitting with a solid ball club that batted .251, second in the league, and hit more homers (179) than any team in the American League.

The trouble was that the enemy hit even more homers (183) off Tiger pitching, including a bumper crop of 42 off young Denny McLain.

"Tiger Stadium and Yankee Stadium are not easy parks for pitchers," said Smith. "The ball goes pretty good to right field or left. You can't make everybody a low ball pitcher. You look at the runs scored (715) and the runs scored against you (608) and you get an idea where the Tigers' big problem was."

Smith is going down the line with a veteran ball club. Except for the outfield, where he is five-deep, it is a thin front line of established players.

"We've got to stay healthy," said Smith. "We can't suffer any serious injuries and stay in the thick of it. I know we have great potential if we can stay in one piece."

No Young Phenoms
"We have no young phenoms that I can see. Sitting in the stands for a time, scouting the other clubs, taught me a lesson. You see a lot of good looking players in the spring that fade when they start to play for keeps. I'd rather see a little more. I don't see any super fellows."

The one big change in the Tigers this spring is the shift of short

Italy Denies Any NATO Officials In Red Spy Ring

ROME (AP) — The Italian Defense Ministry Thursday night denied press reports that officials of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization have been implicated in the Soviet spy ring it is investigating.

In a similar communique, NATO headquarters in Paris said it had been informed that news of "the alleged involvement of 300 NATO officers in the spy ring discovered in Italy lacks any foundation."

Informants had said earlier that Giorgio Rinaldi, an Italian parachuting instructor held in Turin as the central figure in the spy network, told Italian counterintelligence agents that 300 NATO employees were involved.

Rinaldi was reported fearful that he would be killed to prevent him from talking. He, his wife, and their chauffeur, Armando Girard, were arrested March 15 and formally charged Wednesday with gathering data on American bases in Italy and Spain and selling it to the Soviets.

Rinaldi visited the Soviet Union four times from 1958 to last year and was made a colonel in the Soviet intelligence service, Italian newspapers reported.

One newspaper said the spy organization was developed over a period of seven years at a cost of $16 million.

The government of Cyprus confirmed press reports that arrests had been made there during an espionage investigation.

Police sources said two Greek Cypriots were being held on suspicion of being involved in an international Soviet spy network. They said the targets of the espionage were two British bases and other British military installations on Cyprus, as well as three State Department radio stations on the eastern Mediterranean island.

Communist newspapers have charged that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency uses the radio stations to contact agents in the Soviet Union and East Europe. American officials have said two of the stations are used solely for State Department messages and the third monitors radio stations in the Balkan mountains and the Middle East.

Prexy Hunt At U Cut To Five

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Search for a new president for the University of Michigan has narrowed down to only five "serious contenders," the student newspaper said today.

The post will become vacant with the scheduled retirement of Harlan Hatcher in December.

In a copyrighted story by Michigan Daily editor Roger Rapoport, the five contenders were listed as:

Roger Heyns, former vice president for academic affairs at U-M who left in 1965 and now is chancellor of the University of California campus at Berkeley;

Franklin Murphy, chancellor of the University of California campus at Los Angeles;

John Lederle, former U-M political science professor who has been president of the University of Massachusetts for the past five years;

Robert Fleming, chancellor of the University of Wisconsin-Madison;

John Gardner, U.S. secretary of health, education and welfare. Rapoport quoted "top university sources," but did not identify those sources. They said the original list included 200 prospects.

He quoted an unidentified respondent as saying, "We may have something definite moving within in the next week."

Regents had said they hoped to name Hatcher's replacement by June so the new president would have several months in which to work with Hatcher.

Leo F. Gardner Dies Thursday

MANISTIQUE—Leo F. (Curley) Gardner, 65, of Rte. 1, Indian Lake died at 3 p. m. Thursday while enroute to the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital by ambulance.

He was born March 14, 1902 in Garden and had resided in Manistique for 51 years. He married the former Faye McKenzie on June 22, 1928 in Manistique. Mr. Gardner was a member of St. Francis de Sales Church and was employed at the Manistique Pulp and Paper Co. for 45 years.

Surviving are, his widow; two daughters, Mrs. Stanley (Lucille) Fagan of Saginaw, and Mrs. Richard (Janice) Sarvey of Chicago; one brother, Edward G. of Plymouth, Wis.; one sister, Mrs. Jack Holm of Manistique and six grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Messier-Broulliere Funeral Home after 3 p. m. Sunday and liturgical prayers will be recited at 4 p. m. Sunday. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Monday at St. Francis de Sales Church and burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

such observances have been held every year since the building opened 34 years ago.

Washington will have its traditional sunrise services, and the egg rolling on the White House lawn Monday. Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's Easter outfit will be a mimosas-yellow silk dress with matching coat.

Los Angeles will observe Easter with dawn services in the Hollywood Bowl for the 47th time. The 33rd annual sunrise service will take place in the most spectacular setting of all — Arizona's Grand Canyon.

Easter will be the high point of a four-day holiday for most Hawaiians with state and city offices closed from today through Monday. Monday is a state holiday honoring Prince Jonah Kihio Kalanianaʻole, Hawaii's delegate to the U.S. Congress from 1902 to 1922.

Sunrise Service
Historically, the most interesting observance is expected to be the 195th Moravian sunrise service in Winston-Salem, N.C.

The 600-piece Moravian band, divided into sections, will tour the city beginning at 1:45 a. m. "to awaken the worshippers." From 15,000 to 20,000 persons usually join them in Salem Square.

Although city-wide celebrations are only 195 years old, the 207th sunrise service will take place at the Bethania Moravian Church, built in 1759, at 5:45 a. m.

A 500-voice choir, accompanied by the Salvation Army band, will sing at dawn in the Atlanta Stadium.

Coloradans will gather at the magnificent Red Rocks amphitheater in the foothills of the Rockies west of Denver. Generally about 10,000 persons make the pre-dawn trek.

Ecumenical Service
Chicago is moving its annual ecumenical service to Medinah Temple, a Shrine's auditorium, because fire destroyed McCormick Place where it was scheduled. There will also be the usual fashion parade along Michigan Avenue.

Baltimore took note of weather conditions and decided to hold its 28th annual Easter pageant in Memorial Stadium at 4 p. m. instead of dawn because of "cold weather and complaints of inconvenience."

There will be sunrise services at Natural Bridge, Va., and atop 935-foot Mt. Davidson in San Francisco.

New Orleans will start Easter with dawn services beside Lake Pontchartrain.

St. Louis also plans outdoor services in Forrest Park.

Astronauts Prepare For Flights In 1968

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Veteran astronaut Neil A. Armstrong says America's spacemen will take advantage of delay in the man to the moon program to be better prepared to accomplish more when Project Apollo gets rolling again.

They are catching up, he said in an interview, on things that before the Apollo 1 disaster they didn't have as much time to study as they would have liked.

As investigators near the end of their probe into the fire that killed three astronauts Jan. 27, it has become apparent that officials hold little hope of staging another manned space flight until early next year.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said Thursday that two prime Apollo astronaut flight teams had been temporarily disbanded. Said one spokesman: "There's no need to officially designate crews until we have a flight schedule."

In General Training
As a result, all 47 astronauts are in general training only. For the first time since long before Project Gemini, which began in early 1965, no one is training for a specific flight.

Armstrong, a civilian whose Gemini 8 mission a year ago ended with an emergency splashdown after he and Air Force Lt. Col. David R. Scott performed the world's first satellite linkup in space, said there was no doubt the Apollo schedule would suffer some time loss.

"But," he added, "we're certainly going to try and take advantage of the time loss to make up for it in terms of actual program accomplishment for a year."

May Remain Together
NASA said it had dissolved the Apollo 2 crew of Air Force Lt. Col. James A. McDivitt, Lt. Col. David R. Scott and civilian Russell L. Schweickart, along with the Apollo 3 team of Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Maj. William A. Anders and Lt. Col. Michael Collins.

"Probably the same three-man components of Apollo 2 and 3 will remain together," the spokesman said, "but we can't guarantee that."

Apollo 1, as originally scheduled, was to be an earth orbital mission up to 14 days long to give the moonship a good systems checkout. Apollo 2 and 3 were to perform maneuvers with a Lunar Excursion Module, the space taxi to be used to ferry men from the mothership to the moon's surface.

Sault Schools Ask $6 Million

SAULT STE. MARIE — Plans for a $6 million building program to include a new high school for 1,200 students were given final approval by the Sault Ste. Marie Board of education, but the biggest hurdle to the program comes up June 12.

That's the date Sault voters will go to the polls to decide whether or not to finance the facilities.

The school board estimates that it will cost the taxpayer about $7 per $1,000 assessed valuation per year. For most families with homes assessed at about $4,000 this would mean an additional $30 tax bill.

Estimated cost of the proposed high school to local taxpayers is $5,415,200. In addition, another $1 million would be forthcoming from the federal government for vocational training center, qualifying it for federal aid for construction.

Also to be built, if the bond issue is approved, is a new Garfield School for an estimated $381,000, a $78,000 two-room school for Sugar Island and a $125,000 addition to the Bruce Township school.

The new high school would be located on 42-acre site in Minneapolis Woods and would provide about 275,000 square feet. A 3,000 seat gymnasium is included in the plans.

Voters of the area last August rejected a bond issue proposal asking $5 million for school construction. The added cost this time, the board said, was because of increased cost of construction and materials.

Esther Gabe Taken By Death

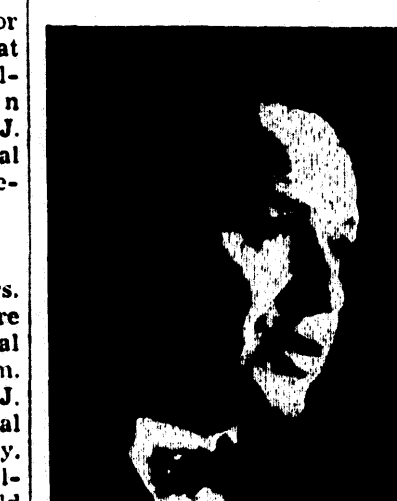

Esther L. Gabe, 77, of Gladstone died Thursday evening at St. Francis Hospital after being a patient for the past seven days. She was born Jan. 17, 1890 in Marinette and spent her early years on Washington Island. She had spent the last 50 years in Gladstone except for brief stays in Milwaukee and Chicago.

Mrs. Gabe was a member of the Memorial Methodist Church, the WSCS, Minnawasca Chapter 96, OES, the Gladstone Child Welfare Club, was active in the Delta County Cancer Society and participated in the toy making project of the Memorial Methodist Church for children in Viet Nam. Her husband, Frank, died in 1929.

She is survived by three sons, Robert of Huron S. D., Leland of Grand Rapids and David of Levittown, Pa.; one brother, William Lemeux of Wenlock, Wash., a half brother, Marvin of Spokane, Wash.; a sister, Mrs. Loretta Robb of Milwaukee and nine grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Anderson-Johns Funeral Home from 7 to 9:30 p. m. today and from 12 noon to 4 p. m., Saturday. Eastern Star services will be held at 3 p. m., Saturday. Funeral services will be conducted at the funeral home chapel at 4 p. m., Saturday with Rev. Clifford DeVor officiating. The body will then be removed to Minneapolis, Minn., for burial in the Asacia Cemetery, Minneapolis at 4 p. m., Monday.

Withholding Of Milk Slipping

The milk strike in the Upper Peninsula appeared today, in its 10th day, to be weakening. The milk withholding action to force up the price of milk 2 cents a quart to the farmer producers started a week ago Wednesday under sponsorship of the National Farmers Organization in 25 states, with Michigan and Wisconsin among the key areas because of their eminence in dairying.

Michigan Milk Producers Association, a cooperative bargaining agency of dairy farmers which handles most of the milk in Michigan, reported today that its Upper Peninsula supply had been affected not more than one per cent by withholding.

The MMPA represents about 330 of the U.P.'s 440 commercial milk producers and it has contracts with the dairy industries which buy milk for bottling or manufacture into dairy products.

Frigo Brothers Cheese Co. at Carney, which makes its own milk pickups from 270 suppliers and which isn't supplied by MMPA, reported that it is currently having about 5 or 6 per cent of its normal milk supply withheld at the farm. Its peak withholding was 7 or 8 per cent, it reported and it is getting calls from farmers to resume pickups as they end withholding.

White House Milk Co.'s condenser and butter plant at Stephenson reported some of the withholding affecting it discontinued too.

Educators Die In Viet Crash

SAIGON (AP) — The pilot and eight members of a team of visiting U.S. educators were killed Thursday afternoon when a small twin-engine plane crashed into a mountainside in turbulent rainy weather north of Da Nang, a U.S. spokesman said today.

There were no survivors. Names of the pilot and passengers were withheld until next of kin were notified.

(A report from Stevens Point, Wis., said the team of educators was headed by James Albertson, president of the Stevens Point branch of Wisconsin State University.)

The plane was operated by Air America, a charter firm employed by the U.S. mission in Vietnam and Laos.

The educators were in Vietnam to study problems of high school education.

The plane had left Saigon and was bound for Hue, 80 miles northwest of Da Nang and 390 miles north of the capital. The pilot landed at Da Nang because of the weather but decided to resume the flight, a spokesman said.
